

Mission accomplished!

A Trevi Group delegation delivered special tents to Mirandola, a town among the ones mostly hit by the earthquake, nearby Modena.

Tents have been delivered in just a couple of weeks after the launch of the subscription to help the people hit by the earthquake in the Emilia Region. As a matter of fact, last Saturday, on 16th June, a Trevi Group delegation, guided by Gianluigi Trevisani and made of Nives Naldi, , Rudy Rivani (the worker who first had this idea) and Gianluca Galassi, delivered two highly technological tents to Mr. Maino Benatti, Mayor of Mirandola.

The tents, manufactured by EDY Co. in Cesena, are provided with an air conditioning system, electrical network and suitable floor. Said tents were directly consigned to the Cesena section of the Green Cross Organisation, who suggested Mirandola as the right location depending on the most urgent need. The Green Cross Organisation will be also responsible for re-using the tents for future emergencies, once this one will be over.

Such very "concrete help" was made possible thanks to the generous contribution of the Trevi Group workers and employees, both from Italy and abroad, who gave an immediate and tangible sign of solidarity reaching a remarkable amount of money. Social Value, the Trevi Group project aimed at supporting solidarity initiatives in Italy and in the world, decided to double, so that the final amount was 42 thousand Euros in total.

Once again, the Trevi Group showed a great sensibility and quickness of intervention; therefore we would like to send a special thank to all those who, from Italy and abroad, contributed to the success of this initiative.

Subscription "A concrete help for the people hit by the earthquake in the Emilia Region"

